

Wanted: Ambition & Talent

We got a job for you!

Wanted: People with Ambition and Talent!

At Harver, we're always on the lookout for talented people. We're growing fast, so there's a lot of work to do. If you think that you can add something to our team in any way, feel free to contact us.

Be advised though, if you possess any, multiple or all of the following traits it's a big plus:

- eager
- ambitious
- talented
- energetic
- proactive
- creative
- resistant to stress
- just an overall nice person
- English speaking

All is well, but what do we do?

Harver is a B2B Software as a Service supplier for the Human Resources sector. We developed a tool called 'TalentPitch' that predicts whether or not an applicant is suitable for the job he/she is applying for. For more information, check out our one minute video on our website www.harver.com

We've entered the market in 2013 and now have offices in Amsterdam, London and New York. Around 1 million candidates flow through our system each year, and we're signing new clients both nationally and internationally each week.

Every single department is growing, and if you are 'harver material', you're bound to fit right in there somewhere!

What we offer

We offer you a 40 hours a week position in the heart of Amsterdam. You'll get to work in an internationally operating company with colleagues and clients from all over the world. Besides that, there are a lot of personal development and advancement possibilities.

Sounds like you? Need some more information? Let us know! Send an email to via recruitment@harver.com