What to expect?

A Food & Beverage Management internship is never the same, so you got to love some change, and food, and beverages. This is your chance to get to know everything there is to know about managing our F&B outlets, including operational and non-operational aspects. It certainly involves so much more than you can imagine! You will be responsible to support the F&B Management with running a smooth operation and providing a consistent high level of service to our guests and colleagues. Leading a shift with a team of up to 75 team members is just one example of the challenges you will face. What kind of leader do you want to become? What will be your leadership legacy? Ensuring that nothing is lacking for the guests, and if necessary handling problems, complaints and/or questions give you even more opportunities for personal development. Since the schedule is adapted to the business needs, every day may vary. Even on the day itself, it can happen that you will be supporting not only one, but multiple outlets.

What else will you be doing?

You will be supporting the Food & Beverage Manager during office hours with administrative tasks and projects. The projects and events that you are responsible for depend on the business and are therefore subject to change. Analysing guest satisfaction results and implementing a plan of action to improve performance is one example. You may also put your planning and organizing skills to the test with events or contribute to marketing activities like creating and executing social media plans.

Who are you?

Ambition, this is the word that you identify yourself with. You are a true team-player with an extensive hands-on mentality. Food & Beverage experience in a restaurant environment is necessary. In this highly international environment, you understand the importance of communication and your English skills are well developed.

When your passion and talent lies within creating heartfelt experiences for our guests and you believe in getting the best out of yourself, you might find this internship a great next step in your career. With almost a hundred years of experience, you can be sure we have all the tools available to enrich your backpack with professional and personal experiences that can contribute to your ambitions.
